

A joint workshop on Foldscope Program held at GITAM University, Visakhapatnam on 8th December 2018

A joint workshop on Foldscope organized by twinning partner of the project Dr. Vijaya Rachel Kumar (Associate professor) Department of Biochemistry & Bioinformatics GITAM University (GIS) in association with Dr. JyotchnaGogoi, Biochemistry, Faculty of Science, Assam down town University on 8th December, 2018 at

Joint workshop attended by the Principal Investigators of the project 'Foldscope' from Assam down town University and from GITAM University

GITAM University campus, Visakhapatnam. The joint workshop were attended by the Principal Investigator of the project 'Foldscope' from Assam down town University and from GITAM University, the Principal of the college, HOD, representative and resource person from Laurus (Pharmaceutical company) , faculties and students from nearby colleges. Dr. JyotchnaGogoi, Principal Investigator of the project from Assam down town University gave a lecture on Foldscope and Residual pesticides, explained and showed the experimental design regarding the pesticidal residual analysis using Foldscope. Dr. Vijaya Rachel Kumar the Principal Investigator of the project 'Foldscope' from GITAM University also talked about the alternative and affordable use of Foldscope to detect and diagnose cancer.

Students and faculties participation at the workshop

Students participated at the workshop were provided with the certificates by PI from AdtU

The technical and the practical session organized as the part of the Foldscope jointly organized by the Principal Investigators of the project from Assam down town University and GITAM University respectively. The students participated at the workshop were given certificates. The programme is supported by Department of Biotechnology, Govt. of India.